

ZSG (Zero Slip Grip) Compound & Structure

- ZSG→ Silica + Ultra High Performance Polymers
- ZSG natural→ ZSG + Natural Rubber (carbon / non-carbon)
- ZSG natural Gradated→ ZSG natural Hard (carbon) } Bi-Bond Structure
- ZSG natural Soft (non-carbon) } Bi-Bond Structure
- ZSG Ultima→ ZSG-DURA - Improved grip in wet or dry conditions

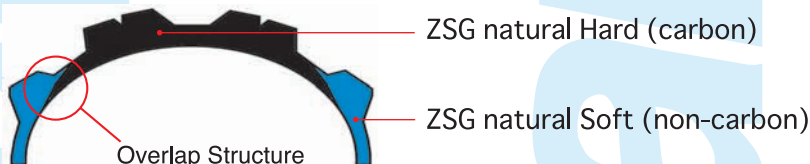

■ ZSG natural ----- Stradius Elite

- Perfect balance of excellent riding performance & durability
- Exclusive high grip natural rubber with silica
- The same level of RR value(Rolling Resistance) for racing tire
- With a 50% increase in durability compared to other training tires.

■ ZSG natural Gradated ----- TrailBlaster

- ZSG natural - Gradated Compound
- Highlights include low rolling resistance and outstanding durability.
- Bi-Bond Structure
- ZSG natural + Carbon (Hard) rubber is incorporated for the center part for good durability.
- Non-Carbon ZSG natural (Soft) rubber is used on the shoulder for increased grip.
- Overlap Structure is adopted for a boundary between the hard part and soft part.
- This gives the gradated hardness of this structure unprecedented stability and adhesive cornering grip.

■ ZSG Ultima ----- Stradius Extreme/Pro/T.T.

- ZSG-Ultima Compound is a newly developed compound strongly combined of high polymer, silica, and carbon. This compound gives both high cornering grip and low rolling resistance by "tan δ" control technology.
- Almighty Grip --- Uses our 'ZSG Ultima™' compound for unheard of grip in wet or dry conditions. Grip performance test data (in-house)
- Durable and Long Lasting --- Uses a wide breaker strip to increase sidewall cut resistance by 50% overall the competition. Helps reduce the chance of pinch flats by 30% over the Stradius T.T.
